Talk about vintage!

Straight outta 1962, this X-Men class ring was probably owned by Jean Grey or maybe even Cyclops.

I bet this silver class ring has seen some crazy things. It was from the very first year they opened, back when Professor X and Magneto were still chums. On either side, it displays the class year of 1962 and on the top the classic X-Men symbol with the engraving "Xavier School for Gifted Youngsters."

Please note that this is costume jewelry and won't hold up to vigorous use!
